2. Project background
How and where the ideas of the project are generated	Soft skills are one of the most prominent skills for a successful life. One should nurture these skills from the school days to have the strong base as the young leaders of tomorrow, Hence, there is a need to create opportunities for young people to participate, learn and share ideas. This will enhance teamwork and confidence in the individual and assist them to face challenges in life. Besides that, by organizing activities for the aboriginal students, they can be role models for them. Student leaders will create awareness to the wider community and the local community able to understand the importance of social inclusion to enhance unity in life. The activities planned builds better physical stamina, good self-esteem, confidence and a belief in their skills and abilities. The programme promotes constructive time use, positive social interactions and promote valuable life skills, which inevitably benefit the community as a whole.
